Librarians should be leading open source and open sharing in their organisation. I concur! #OpenScot

How many college or uni librarians were involved in writing their OER policy? Does your org have one? Wish we did! #OpenScot
Scotland not funded in HEFC ukoer programme which explains lack of awareness of OER in Scotland. #OpenScot

Are we missing a trick with OER not being specifically mentioned in Curriculum for Excellence? Would help with sharing agenda... #OpenScot

Openness of MOOCs subject to debate, but very much part of open landscape #OpenScot

@LornaMCampbell deftly points out MOOCs and OER are not synonyms, but they are quite often used that way. #OpenScot policy makers note ;-)

The Scottish Library and Information Council
SLIC is pleased that its funding of the project has provided the sector with further concrete evidence of the issues facing all libraries, in a world where the public think everything is free and we faced increased pressure to share resources. SLIC has been supporting sharing of resources for many years and has tried to implement programmes which might make it easier to do so, such as the National Entitlement Card, but progress is much slower than we would like. It will be an increasing challenge to meet user expectations and this report has set out the areas where we should be focusing on.
